

2015-2016 A visit from the Lord Mayor of Leicester

Thanks to the Wildlife Trust and Eco Club, Sandfield has a lovely new Nature Area. To celebrate this we invited the Lord Mayor, Mr Ted Cassidy along to officially open it. The area has lots of different places for mini-beasts to hide and different flower beds. The insect hotel has a living roof. It has also been decorated with willow sculptures made from our own willow.

We had to use lots of chopping and measuring skills. In the beetroot jam was sugar, balsamic vinegar and onions. The onions made everyone cry when they tried to chop them up.

We made sweet scones and savoury ones made with sweet potato. Jody then cooked them for us.

To get ready for the Mayor's visit we made beetroot jam and strawberry jam. The beetroots were from our garden.

The Leicester Mercury sent a reporter along to take some photographs.

We were pleased that so many people could come along.

To celebrate we had tea and scones. Fairtrade tea and scones made by us with beetroot jam and strawberry jam!

We would like to thank Ann Merrick and Jane Faulks from City Catering, Jody and Julie from the kitchen, Marilyn and Martha from The Wildlife Trust, Lee from Leicester City Council, Lisa from Food for Life and Natalie who all gave up their time to come along and meet Mr Ted Cassidy Leicester's Lord Mayor. We would also like to say a huge thanks to Mr Cassidy who opened our Nature area and spent time having tea with us all.
